Replication by Abascal & Baldassarri, 2015* using his original data and Putnam (2012) revises much of Putnam's (2007) E Pluribus Unum (out of many, one) article cited by Collier to argue immigration reduces social capital by increasing diversity and reducing trust (for which he cites Robert Putnam as in Bowling Alone). This article says they used the same data Putnam's dataset putnam did to show that the causal link is not from diversity to lack of trust, but from cultural and SES factors to a lack of trust... the Putnam, 2012 says diversity has ST costs but is "inevitable and beneficial" long run benefits... though he also said this in 2007, less forcefully... BOX 3.4 USE AND EFFECTS OF REMITTANCES: SOME EMPIRICAL EVIDENCE

Several studies on the use and effects of remittances have been undertaken. Adams used a household data set from Guatemala to analyse how remittances affect the spending behaviour of households. His results show that recipients of remittances spent marginally more on education, health and housing than on items such as food. For instance,

BOX 3.6 HAWALA MONEY TRANSFERS²⁴⁶

In the absence of formal money transfer systems provided by commercial banks or enterprises—or simply because formal systems are unwieldy or expensive—remittances are often transmitted through informal money transfer systems, including the famous hawala system in countries like Somalia. This is a trust-based money transfer system that moves as much as US$1 billion into Somalia every year. The remitter gives a hawala agent in London, for example, the sum in cash, paying a commission of perhaps five percent. The agent deposits the cash in a local bank account to be transferred to the hawala company bank account in Djibouti or Dubai. The agent then alerts the clearing house in a regional Somali capital (or, most often, Mogadishu). The clearing house, in turn, passes the details (probably by cell-phone) on to whichever agent is geographically closest to the intended recipient. Usually the recipient will already have been contacted directly by the remitter to let them know the money is coming, and will then contact the agent. The agent cannot rely on official identity papers in Somalia, so will quiz the recipient about clan lineage and other questions provided by the Waters et al 2015 find new immigrant cohorts integrate the same as old... Borjas & Collier wrong

“outcomes of educational attainment, income, occupational distribution, living above the poverty line, residential integration, and language ability, immigrants”
... “become more similar to the native-born and improve their situation over time.” as did cohorts before them...)

UCLA-NAID Forham CIPS migration survey shows large income gains for migrants from Mexico in New York City:

- ❑ Migration raises income from $1600 per year to about $12,000 that is from $130/month to about $1000/month for each breadwinner with less than 9 years of education from poorest Municipios in Puebla and Guerrero raises...1/
- ❑ Remittances sent to Mexico raise incomes for those left behind from $130/month to $230/month in “high poverty and severe Municipios” (data from ENIGH)
- ❑ Going to college pays in New York City (compared to LA and Durham, NC) earnings for Mexican immigrants in U.S. for less than 10 years go from $26,000 to $36,000/year about 50% higher than in LA or Durham, NC.

1/ We asked everyone of the over 100 immigrants we interviewed where they were from (what Municipio in Mexico). All but two were from rural areas of Puebla and Guerrero, the estimate of $130 a month is for the poorest Municipios (based on Mexico's national household expenditure survey). The $12,000 earnings are for immigrants living in New York from Mexico for less than ten years, as computed using the combined 2005-2009 ACS for NYC, this is also roughly equal to expenditures per employed worker in the households in our survey.

Integration equality and continuity does not rule out bad outcomes....

“Still, the well-being of immigrants and their descendants is highly dependent on immigrant starting points and on the segment of American society—the racial and ethnic groups, the legal status, the social class, and the geographic area—into which they integrate.” Waters, et al. 2015

Immigrant surges as a research strategy: exogenous immigration shocks..

- 1) Cubans similar to other Hispanic & Caribbean groups arriving in U.S. (Mariel boatlift?)
- 2) IRCA and the 1965 Hart Cellar Act: amnesty and family reunification
- 3) Sanctuary cities/states “the Calif Package”: 3 dream acts, DL-ID SS#, e-verify

State of California replicates “citizenship” are working New York does not now...

- ❑ No E-Verify, driver's licenses, medical care
- ❑ Three Dream Act tuition and scholarships
- ❑ Santa Clara University targets undocumented in HS
- ❑ Many scholarship funds and industry based groups supporting Jeff Bezos
- ❑ Pete Wilson's warning...

Different legal Pathways used by newly admitted NYC immigrants (see Chapt 6 of Newest New Yorkers)

- ❑ Dominicans & Guyanese use 1990 family preferences
- ❑ Chinese, Ukrainians (& Cubans) get refugee status
- ❑ Mexicans use employment preferences
- ❑ Colombians 70% immediate relatives
- ❑ DACA/DAPA provide TPS (until 2018...)
- ❑ See NYC Planning, Newest New Yorkers, Chapt 5 & 6

Controversies new Directions... the case for new limits on immigration

- ❑ Borjas and Collier: immigration “too costly”
- ❑ Diaporas can become “too large”
- ❑ Large diasporas undermine trust and social capital
- ❑ Example: Mexicans in California during the 1990s: their diaspora dispersed through U.S. push and pull see Tienda and Fuentes, 2014.
